Project Reentry presents
our November workshop:

A Conversation About Grief

With SADO's Jessica Zimbelman

Join us for an open conversation about grief, loss, and the challenges of moving forward. While grief is a universal experience, returning home after decades of incarceration may remind us of loved ones, time, relationships, missed opportunities, and the life milestones we are left to process. Moderated by SADO's Deputy Director, Jessica Zimbelman, we'll share our experiences, explore the ways we cope, and create space to acknowledge the pain, find connection, and remind one another that we are not alone.
